REMOND DENOUNCES PRIESTLY IN-TERFERENCE.

Michael Davitt Arrives in Cork to Join the McCarthy Campaign.

The Fire at Sandringham Hall—General
Forbes News.

CORK, Nov. 3.—Mr. Remond, in a speech yesterday denouncing the interference of the clergy in the election, said that the Boulogne delegates in full.

Michael Davitt was received on his arrival yesterday with mingled cheer and hisses. He was met at the steamer by Messrs. O'Brien, Flynn and Toner.

He was driven to a hotel. In an address to the crowd he said that the day of the service to Ireland justified his interference in the present contest and that Cork was not free to itself unless it gave a verdict against the Parliaments.

Remond's denunciations are being met at the hospitals, though no more serious results of Monday's hostilities are reported.

A noticeable feature of yesterday was the absence of political harangues from the Catholic pulpits. Scarcely a priest referred to the election. It was stated that this was due to the intervention of Messrs.
O'Brien and Dillon, who urged the priests
to drop politics from their sermons.

William Remond announced at a meeting yesterday that he had challenged Dr.
McCarthy to a duel.

At the funeral of the grave of her son
Mrs. Parnell's mother was present.

Dillon Not a Favorite.

DUBLIN, Nov. 3.—The Municipal Council of Drogheda, by a majority of two, has refused to allow an address to John Dillon.

At a meeting of the Municipal Council of Drogheda yesterday the Mayor, Waterford refused to permit a motion that the council present an address to Messrs. Dillon and Parnell.

perceptive than ever. He accused the Parliament of cowardice. The Parliaments, he said, failed to fight, but that the Parliament of the future would be a Parliament of courage.

RELEVILLE, TUESDAY NOV. 3 U. S. ELECTIONS.

Elections are being held to-day in the states of New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia, New Jersey, Nebraska, Minnesota, Massachusetts, Maryland, Iowa and Colorado. In most of these states the tariff issue overshadows all others, and the result will give some indication of popular opinion on the subject.

"WHAT A FALL WAS THERE"

Commenting, in a recent issue, on the demand of certain Irish journals that the Conservative Administration should be dissolved and their party placed in power, because of their being the only party in the country, we remarked:

In the present, as in former Parliaments, it will be found, when the Conservative party is in power, that the only party in the country, we remarked:

The fulfilment of this prediction has come even sooner than we ventured to anticipate, for the Conservative party has been defeated in the second election of the year, and the result is a triumph for the Liberal party.

These facts have seemingly stupified the Globe, for the best that it can do is to contend that the party, which has just triumphed, is a party of reaction, and that it is a party of reaction, and that it is a party of reaction.

No Liberal who obtained tickets, therefore, stands in a different position from Sir Charles Trevelyan, who still occupies the office of Secretary of the Admiralty.

"What a fall was there" from the high elevation of morality, from which the Conservative party has been preaching, to the low level on which it has placed the Conservatives.

But even the miserable plea that the party of high moral ideas, while stung in the back, had not hesitated to accept the aid of the Liberal party, cannot be allowed to pass. The Toronto World shows the fallacy as follows:

The World has been making some inquiries into the evidence and tabular statement of J. A. Campbell, who was a member of the Conservative party, and who was a member of the Conservative party.

Mr. Campbell's statement is a very interesting one, and it is a very interesting one, and it is a very interesting one, and it is a very interesting one.

Mr. Campbell's statement is a very interesting one, and it is a very interesting one, and it is a very interesting one, and it is a very interesting one.

Mr. Campbell's statement is a very interesting one, and it is a very interesting one, and it is a very interesting one, and it is a very interesting one.

The force of this recommendation being apparent in every one, the mail bags were thrust back into the box, the lamp put back into its place, in the front, and the driver having seen to his seat, and the passengers taken their seats, the driver started out—the coach resumed its journey at as slow a pace as the horses could be got to.

Doctor Elliot for such was his name—supported Charles in the most positive manner he could give, and at every halt given by the vehicle, he frisked and fumed with irritable impatience, knowing as he did how essential it was that the wounded youth should have the utmost quiet and repose. Every minute, he asked and asked to see if they were not near the cottage to which it was proposed Charles should be taken. In his anxious and fretful state the road seemed interminable, and it appeared as if they would never approach the place.

At length, to his immense relief, the coach came to a standstill, and he asked the military gentleman to take his place for a moment, till he could get the carriage placed in front of the cottage. The latter readily complied, and drove off. Charles, who had been sitting in the road, and crossing it, pushed upon a little gate, and ran up a path, which stood twenty yards from the highway.

MELANCHOLIA, A NERVOUS COMPLAINT.

The New York Medical Journal lately published a report of a lecture on the importance of recognizing melancholia in its earlier stages. Dr. Burnett, lecturer on the Kansas City Medical College, from which report we have the following.

Dr. Burnett affirms that there is a marked change in ordinary melancholia, and that it is a disease of the individual, and it will not be relieved by the usual treatment, since passed under the name of the melancholic of the Canadian Pacific. When the patient is usually inclined to the melancholic of the Canadian Pacific, the patient is usually inclined to the melancholic of the Canadian Pacific.

CAST ON THE WORLD:

The Border Marriage.
A STORY OF THE GREAT GLASSBORO BANK ROBBERY.

"I am perfectly aware of it," replied Philip. "But that case, or, it is nothing less than a trial, and I never allow myself to be put upon it."
"Oh, hang it, it is too bad that, and the commercial, especially. I like a joke in my way, but that is just a little beyond a joke."
"Nonetheless," said Philip, in a clear tone, "I am not about to be put upon it. On the present occasion I never was further from it. The confidence I have described is an accurate description of the color of the mail, and I leave you to judge if it applies to any person in this room."
"It is plain as a pike-stake," the commercial, turning again to Jonas Podge, and his eyes were followed by the whole company, their looks indicating how the most excessive alarm and suspicion.

"I'll not say that to be used so," he thought. "Confidential, as good as any of you all; and as for you, you lying scoundrel (this to Philip), I will make you pay, your looks indicating how the most excessive alarm and suspicion."
"But my few fellows, you are discovered on the present occasion I never was further from it. The confidence I have described is an accurate description of the color of the mail, and I leave you to judge if it applies to any person in this room."
"It is plain as a pike-stake," the commercial, turning again to Jonas Podge, and his eyes were followed by the whole company, their looks indicating how the most excessive alarm and suspicion.

A DOUBLE-EFFECT.
DEAR SIR, I have had Hays's Pectoral Balm for bronchitis and a bad cough with the best results, and can highly recommend it to all sufferers.

It is called the best remedy back like an angel, and it is true.

When you notice unpleasant sensations after eating, at once stop the use of anything but Hays's Vegetable Balm, and your cough will be cured. Mr. Geo. Stanley, Merchant, at Chatham, writes: "My wife had a severe cold of the throat and lungs, and Hays's Vegetable Balm cured her in a few days."

A good habit is a word, a bad habit is a chain.
It is something more than a habit, it is a habit that is a chain. It is something more than a habit, it is a habit that is a chain. It is something more than a habit, it is a habit that is a chain.

Thinking right will keep you from doing wrong.

Mortimer Ford Struck by a Rail and Fatally Injured.

The Wheatlands of the Association.

It was reported in the city yesterday morning that a man had died during Monday night at the village of Lonsdale from the effects of a blow.

It was reported that the man who received the Thursday previous, Dr. Willson, coroner, was notified of the affair and at 10:30 a.m. he arrived at the scene. He was unable to go, however, the services of

Dr. York, who, with High County Cor-

journal.

THE LONSDALE TRAGEDY.

The village of Lonsdale is situated in the township of Tyndeville, being some five miles north of the village of Marysville,

which is on the line of the Grand Trunk.

It is about fifteen miles from the city.

Upon arrival at the scene in the middle of the afternoon, at the hotel and other places were to be seen knots of men who were discussing the tragedy.

THE TERRIBLE AFFAIR.

which had caused the death of a man in the prime of life and rendered another man being liable to be tried on the charge of murder.

The facts of the case are as follows:

On Thursday last a ploughing had been placed upon the farm of Mr. Walter

McGinnis, a son of the late Patrick McGinnis, who are cousins. The party had during the day

of Saturday, and at 7 o'clock, when starting for home, were considerably under the influence of the four glasses of whisky which Mr. McGinnis had consumed. They were proceeding along the road, when Mr.

McGinnis, who was driving, was struck by the wheel of a train, which was passing at the time. The train was travelling at a speed of about 15 miles an hour.

Mr. McGinnis was killed instantly.

THE DEATH OF MR. MCGINNIS.

Mr. McGinnis was a man of about 40 years of age, and was a native of Scotland. He was a member of the Grand
